Things I've Seen Lately

I watched as Mrs. DeOliveira was teaching her students about static electricity. They were experimenting with balloons, rubbing them on felt and seeing how that effected different objects. I watched as first grade students were amazed to the point of applause when they saw a piece of yarn lift up off the desk and follow the balloon. I think they thought they were watching Houdini and expected a rabbit of a hat next.

I watched the girls basketball team win the Charter School championship last Friday 29-16. They were very good all year finishing undefeated. Thanks to Mr. Roberts, Mr. Bingham and Miss Hunt who coached these teams to an undefeated season.

I also watched the boys basketball team finish second in the Charter School championship. They played a very close game where all involved put forth a good effort. It was fun to watch. Thanks to Mr. Proetel and Mr. Tongi who helped coach this team to only two losses all year.

I saw that the science students in Ms. Smiths class learn about cells. They created giant sugar cookies with all parts of the cell. I was super impressed because later I as students were eating their part of the cookie I asked one what they were eating and they were able to name each piece of candy and what it represented.
